

Student A

Have you ever...?

Ask your partner questions with 'have you ever...?' Then answer your partner's questions...

If your partner answers positively (Yes, I have.)... Ask him or her another question in the past simple.

e.g. A: Have you ever been to Paris?
B: Yes, I have.
A: When did you go?
B: I went to Paris in the summer of 2001.

- (be) to a fortune teller?
 - (miss) a plane?
 - (work) in a restaurant?
 - (smoke)?
 - (speak) English on the phone?
 - (sleep) on a beach?
 - (win) a prize or a lottery?
 - (move) house?
 - (fail) an important exam?
 - (meet) a famous person?
-

Student B

Have you ever...?

Ask your partner questions with 'have you ever...?' Then answer your partner's questions...

If your partner answers positively (Yes, I have.)... Ask him or her another question in the past simple.

e.g. A: Have you ever been to Paris?
B: Yes, I have.
A: When did you go?
B: I went to Paris in the summer of 2001.

- (do) yoga?
- (be) in the papers or on TV?
- (find) money in the street?
- (smoke) a cigar?
- (wrote) a poem?
- (walk) in your sleep?
- (lose) your wallet?
- (say) I love you to someone?
- (have) a terrible holiday?
- (see) a film in English?